

Winter's Tale for summer

MEMORIAL Woodlands in Alveston are playing host to some Shakespearean visitors this weekend.

The Rain or Shine, an outdoor theatre company, will be performing the bard's The Winter's Tale.

All profits from the Saturday night performance will go to St Peter's Hospice.

Wayne Armstrong, managing director of Memorial Woodlands, said: "Some people might find it strange to hold a theatrical performance at a woodland cemetery, but not everything we do at the Woodlands is rooted in funereal activities. Neither are we a traditional cemetery at the Woodlands most families look to celebrate the life as well as mourn the passing of a loved one, so hosting this performance is not as out of place as people might first imagine."
